[Correspondence of the Herald.] Спісадо, Ілл., Мау 16, 1843. An Excursion from Buffaloto Chicago-The Herald,

&c. &c.

At the urgent request of several of my fellow passengers, I take the liberty of giving you a short account of a trip from Buffalo to Chicago, on those beautiful expansions of inland waters, Lakes Erie, St. Clair, Huron and Michigan.

Precisely at 2 o'clock we started from the Mansion House, and were safely conveyed on board of the splendid steamboat Great Western, so ably commanded by Capt. Walker. Though the ship was advertised to leave at two, the number of passengers (nearly six hundred,) and quantity of baggage to be taken on board, prevented her from leaving until past 4 o'clock, several families having waited some days at Buffalo in order to make the trip in this their favorite boat. On leaving the dock, the weather being rather hazy, we retired to the elegant cabin, and were fortunate to obtain a copy of your interesting paper, of which there were several on board, and which were eagerly sought several on board, and which were eagerly sought after.

At the usual hour the gentlemanly steward, Mr. P., came down and informed our lady passengers that supper was on the table, and shortly the merry peals of the bell gave the gentlemen the same agreeable intelligence. Here let me observe that the fare on board of the Western cannot be strapssed by any hotel to the Union; and to all appearances it seemed my fellow passengers had not left their appetites on shore. They incontinently tell upon the good things, and in an incredibly short space of time the savory steaks and entlets, together with choice aweet-meats, and sweet-breads, disappeared from the dishes, which were, however, instantly replenished.

After supper an excellent band of musicians, which is always kept on board, entered the spacious saloon. Mr. P. then requested such ladies and gentlemen as wished to dance, to form a cotillon; and with the truly lovely and interesting daughters of Mr. A., from Syracuse, the Misses P., from Hu ron, Miss D., from your city, Mrs. F., and several others, we were able to form two or three sets, and danced until fairly tired out, when we retired to our elegant state rooms.

others, we were able to form two or three sets, and danced until fairly tired out, when we retired to our elegant state rooms.

The next morning we arrived at Cleveland, Ohio, where the boat stopped long enough to give us ample opportunity for a stroll in the city. During our stay here a number of gentlemen came on board, and anxiously asked for a copy of "Bennett's Herald," as they called it, and were gratified with several copies by some of our fellow passengers. It seems to me your paper is very much in demand here in the west. A merchant at Chicago informed me that it was the only paper they depended upon for truth and correctness of its statements.

In the evening we had another dance, and I must confess I have never met with apparently so happy a company. They seemed to enjoy themselves in as much security as if it had been at their own homesteads; and well they might, on board of as staunch a steamer as the Great Western, which for strength, comfort and speed, is uneurpassed by any other boat. She is commanded by a thorough sailor, who for years has been a successful navigator, and is known to be one of the ablest commanders on these Lakes.

On Monday, after having stopped at Huron, Detroit and Mackinaw, we arrived at Milwaukie, W. T., where we landed about two hunoared emigrants. The next morning the Western stopped at Southport, W. T., a beautiful and rising town of only three years growth, but which at this time already contains nearly two thousand inhabitants. Here we also landed quite a number of emigrants, and after a short and pleasant run, arrived at Chicago the same morning.

short and pleasant run, arrived at Chicago the same morning.

On parting here, and at the different stopping places, vows of friendship and remembrance were exchanged among the passengers, and I do believe some of a more tender nature had been exchanged on the passage. All of us will look back with pleasing recollections to our trip on board the Great Western, and long remember the gentlemanly conduct of Capt. Walker and his steward, and their pleasing efforts to minister to our comforts and enjoyments.

The price of passage from Buffalo to Chicago for this season is, cabin $15 and steerage $7. The boats generally go through in five days.

Yours truly,

As you are the greatest man in creation, except Captain Tyler, and I am the next-and as your pa. have concluded to oper a correspondence for pub. over the numerous densely crowded columns of your superior paper, never to have seen any letter frem our town. The east, and the west, the north and south, Europe, Asia, Africa, the White House, and the states prison, have all been heard from, but no mention made of our old town. For the benefit of your readers, I will just state where it may be found, in order that, if any one takes it into his head to travel east, he may know where to come. It is located, then, in the south-east corner of the state of New Hampshire, that strong hold of hard rocks and locofocoism. Isaan Hill called it "Clamshell Corner," and by that name let it go. By the way, speaking of Isaac, it is said, that in his hostity to this town, he once contemplated removing the light house from our harbor to the town of Hookaset, an obscure place about sixty miles infand, so that the situation of lighter might be given to one of his family. He is very popular in this town.

Portamouth is on the Eastern Railroad, or rather that road is built partly on Portsmouth; it has $,000 inhabitants, eight churches, a jail, court house, lots of abolitionists, Millerites, Non-resistants, pretty girls, rascals and hypocrites, an aristocracy worth having, a lyceum, and several other things. There is a splendid harbor, where a thousand navies like ours might ride through the greatest storm which conflict, gelements ever raised; a navy yard of dimensions equal, as far as I know, to any in the country, where the best ships in the navy have been built, but where, in the opinion of the wire men at the head of the government, a hurricane deck can't be built to a sloop of war. The Saratoga was ordered round to your city for that purpose. The first the first of the between the least storm which conflict, as far as I know, to any in the end of the government, a hurricane deck can't be built to a sloop of war. The Saratoga was or dered round to your city for that purpose. The first attempt that she made, the intelligent captain weighed anchor the day before a storm, and in less than 24 hours, he was glad to let it drop again, off Rye Beach, minus all his masts and rigging. mechanics know how, she has at last arrived safe at year city, to have a hurricane deck put on.

In our neighborhood are some of the prettiest drives which can be found any where, and beautiful scenery too; magnificent beaches skirt the seaconst within a few miles of the town. Nahant is but a foot path to some of them. Hundreds of strangers visit these places in the summer months, to enjoy themselves and kill time; and old time, not backward, is all the time retaliating, and killing them.

not backward, is all the time retaliating, and killing them.

Here, Samuel Cushman, whose soubriquet of P. Q. was so well established by a seat in Congress, was raised, and still lives, shaking hands, and bowing and smiling with every body, (especially the pretty girls) in good democratic style. Here, Jeremiah Mason practiced law, until he got to be too large for the "little fishing village." Here, Daniel Webster studied and practiced law, until he, too, found New Hampshire the wrong place for him. And many other worthies, in church and State, have also flourished here.

Having thus given you some idea of our town, for the benefit of your readers in every nation under the sun, I will just premise, that shortly I shall enter upon particulars, and give you taithful accounts of the many scenes of interest which are going on here. Some of these are rich in amusement, and will well repay the reading.

I cannot conclude without saying a word about your truly and transcendantly valuable and useful paper. It is held in high esteem here, the people evincing the correctness of their tastes, by taking a great number, notwithstanding the carrier is cockeyed and crooked.

DETECTION OF A GLARING FRAUD UPON THE CITY—AN ALDERMAN IS LIMBO.—Our quiet city was thrown into a great excitement on Saturday by the arrest of Alderman Dalton of the Second Ward, on a charge of embezzling city warrants which had been redeemed by the Treasurer and ordered to be destroyed. He underwent an examination before Exra Williams, Esq., and was held to bail in the sum of two thousand dellars to answer the charge. A writ of habeas corpus was sued out by his counsel, and he will be taken before Judge Morell this morning, with a view to his discharge on some legal quibble—that the warrants stolen were of no value—or something of that sort.

view to his discharge on some legal quibble—that the warrants stolen were of no value—or something of that sort.

The facts of the case are briefly these:—Sometime last winter, (under the old Board.) about $13,000 of warrants and shinplasters were ordered by the Council to be burned. Ald Canniff and Dalton were a committee to count and burn them. They met with the City Treasurer to discharge that trust. Two or three days were occupie lin counting, and for an hour or two of the second day, Ald. Dalton was engaged alone in doing so. After the count was completed, the warrants and shinpiasters were burnt by the Treasurer in the presence of the two Aldermen and the City Marshal, and a report of the amount made to the Council. It now appears that Ald. Dalton stole a large number of the warrants, and pledged $2,100 of them to Theodore Romeyn, Esq. for the sum of about $400. Other smaller sums were disposed of to several individuals in the city. By the energy, tact and perseverance of Alds. Van Dyke and David Smart, a full discovery of the fraud was made on Saturday, sad they succeeded in recovering $2,400 at the stolen warrants.

A special session of the Council was held on Saturday evening, and a clear and succinct statement of the facts was made by Ald. Van Dyke, who delivered over to the Council tile amount of warrants which he had obtained. We have not learned what action was taken by the Council in this matter, as we were under the necessity of leaving the Council at an early hour in the evening. It is generally believed that others in this city who are not connected with the Council, are accessory with Mr. Dalton in the perpetration of this fraud; and it is hoped that a searching investigation will be made of the whole matter.—Detroit Advertiser.

There Dream and Six Brass Plates—That is, of course, two brass plates to one dream. The dreams were got up on three successive nights, by a young man named Wiley, of Kinderhook—not the classic ground of Linderwald and as hages—but somewhere in Illinois; and the six brass plates were dug up, exhumed and discovered by a party of ten or twelve persons, among whom was a Mormonite. The information was reduced to writing by Mr. J. Itoberts, of Pike county, and communicated by him to the editor of the Quincy Whig, in which paper we find the story.

The amount of it is, that it is another emission of brass plates, which have been submitted to Joe Smith, to be interpreted for the cause of science, literature, and Mormonism. They were dug from a mound, at a depth of eleven feet, in consequence of the dreams aforesaid. If Joe Smith does not succeed in interpreting the hieroglyphics favorably to Mormonism, the plates are to be brought on and submitted to Horace Greely or Albert Brisbane, to see if the plates do not contain some revelation respecting Fourierism.
